“Take the Lid Off and Ascend!”

The Crystalline Brethren of Divine Light speak:

The Fury of Spirit!

Hello beloved Angels of great light, love, and passionate energy. We offer to you a word...the word...fury!

We offer you this word fury because we wish for thee to see thyself as a fury of spirit, as a fury of divine action, as a fury of the passion of the energy of your cosmic self.

Do you see the fury of this? You may say why do you choose this word fury? We say this because the energy is beyond the capacity of a brain to understand its divine magnitude.

This energy has great magnitude.

In the world experience as you know it now, whenever there is a shaking of your planet, they use the word magnitude to describe the energy that is allowing the movement.

Consider this, the energy that is allowing movement is a magnitude, and it occurs at a depth.

Oftentimes this depth is measured, and it is at the depth of the magnitude of the shaking that the greater impact, or the greater effect is felt.

We invite you to take the fury of spirit and to wrap it around you, to become emboldened with it, and to allow it to whip you as they say into a new level, a new magnitude, a depth of passion.

A compassionate energy that will gift you!
Gift you! Gift you!

Your Passionate Energy in Action

Beloved Angels, beloved servants, beloved Kings, beloved Queens, beloved Princes, beloved Princesses, beloved multitude of all-ness experiencing the oneness.

There are, nor could there ever be, enough adjectives to describe the passionate energy that is within you.

If you were to gaze at a roaring fire, perhaps a roaring fire in the evening outside.

If you were to watch all of the little crickles and crackles that come up out of the wood and come up into the sky.

If it was roaring, and if it was furiously roaring and passionate, how many sparks would come out?

How many others would enjoy the gift?

How many others would see that fire and to say oh that is a magnificent fire?

And if it is a small little flame on a very cold night and there is only the one who is seeking to fan that flame, the flame itself keeps going and provides what is needed.

And yet when it is furious, when it is passionate, when it is allowing itself to be expanded more and more, then more and more are able to see, to be, to hear, to know, to witness, to express, and to finally, gratefully, understand.

Finally. Gratefully. Understand.

This is the moment of the great understanding!

And in order for there to be the depth of understanding that creates a magnitude of expression, there must be a momentum that is passionately, furiously, whipping forward.

Now let go of your mind's definitions of words in one language, for we speak in only one language do we not? Through this vessel, yet we speak in multitudes of languages always. And so when you let go, perhaps you replace the word fury with passion, and even that word creates or evokes with it another sense of experience.

The key is to offer to thee momentum.

The magnitude of momentum that will shake the very core to say: "I am the presence. I am actively in presence. I am actively compassionate with all. With all...with all!"

Are you the Boiling Kettle?

For you see beloved ones, the kettle is boiling and the lid is being blown off. When one leaves the lid on a kettle and it begins to boil, the lid will blow off and it can sometimes break. And the boiling continues.

The kettle is now boiling. And the lid is off. How will the steam evaporate? For above the boiling kettle is the great steam that contains all of the components of that which have been in the kettle, yet it is now ethereal, and it is now available, and it disperses easily, and it disperses efficiently.

So beloved one, it is important to recognize that your spirit, your soul's energy, your experience and form is boiling...boiling...boiling.

Do you have a lid on or not?

For if the lid is on this compassionate passion furiously swelling boiling kettle of divine spirit, if there is a lid on, it will be most painful. And if the lid is off, you are able to easily and effortlessly transcend into the ethers where you are one melded loving presence.

You are able to expand and all becomes quiet and gentle and effortless because it is the power of the boil. It is the power of the compassion, of the passion, of the action, of the furious swelling. It is all of that active energy that brings you back to the understanding.

Understanding!

The understanding is not obtainable in the world of form, which is why so many seek, seek, seek! This is why meditation, prayer, sincerity, love expressed with divine presence, is a powerful tool.

It is a powerful tool because it ignites the energy within to boil, ignite, and erupt out as a beautiful swell of sparks illuminating, so that one may reconnect through the realms where all understanding exists.

Throughout the journey of your divine soul, you touch this over and over again. You carry it with you always, yet you cannot find it here, you must remember it here.

You cannot find it here!
You must remember it here.

And we offer to you this. We offer the word, "must", only because so many of you say how? How, how? How may I? How can I? How will I? Or will I ever?

The Soul's Journey of Enlightenment

What is it to be enlightened? It is simply the place where the boiling is complete, the reunion is upon thee, and the understanding is ever present.

Understanding is a beautiful gift that emerges outward when the soul is leading the journey and the body is quietly, finally, resting.

Until then, it is a creative swell of energy over and over and over again. Rapid, rapid, rapid. And then, when the moment of the divine union comes forward again, you are able to walk with presence, with knowing, with understanding.

You smile at the divinity that is expressing in form that you have aligned with through a name and a body. And even though it will still and it always will express the divinity, the cosmic energy smiles within eternally. And the two become one, and that one becomes the understanding. And the understanding becomes the pot that no longer needs to boil, for the pot contains all, and it is within the oneness that it is remembered.

Take in a breath.

Feel your heart now.

Do you feel the journey?

Do you feel it?

Of course you do. Feel your soul now.

Bring your soul forward.

Come through, beyond, and between.

There is no room, there is no floor, there is no chair.

There is only the effervescent ethers that have suspended themselves in a certain coagulated form to support the expansion of your soul. Allow yourself now to come out and through.

Allow your hand to dissolve. Just dissolve...Dissolve...Dissolve.

Allow the crystalline universe to come forward with thee.

Allow yourself now to understand... words are so limiting. Understanding is transcending.

Understanding the Dimensions

There is nothing you need to do other than to allow the active principle of the divinity within to sustain you, to fill you, to enlighten you. Because there is only one, let us use this word, dimension, with many aspects.

You can sit in three<sup>1</sup>. You can play in five. You can delight in seven. You can transform through nine. You can go where you want to go, sliding through, when you are in the divine understanding of the knowing that has spurred awake through the furious bubbling of the passionate energy of your divine soul.

You have great wisdom and you have great manifest ability.

However, are you offering it for the service and the gift that it is, the passion that it offers?
Or, is the ego still leading that aspect of thy own self, thy being?

It does not matter which it is, for each will bring thee to the understanding eventually.
You will always have it. It is within you.

We love you. We honor you. As you honor thyself, we hear thee.

Re-discovering your Divinity

As you allow thyself to heal through the experiences of this divine, worldly, cosmic yet subtle, experience, you will discover once more the truth of your divinity.

Over and over again it cannot be denied, it can only be hidden.

To some it is revealed through the moments of transition. For some it is revealed close to that. And for some it is revealed much earlier on.

<sup>1</sup> These numbers refer to the traditional assumption of the "third dimension", etc.

ARCHANGELIC INSOULMENT

Beloved ones, it does truly not matter! This is why worry is a fruitless exhibition of energy.

So, when you worry, smile that this is a fruitless exhibition of your energy.

Worry carries great fury does it not?

It gets very, very palpable, very, very quickly.

And so we would invite thee to remember that the divine understanding is the cosmic presence!

It is the smile within, the journey that knows all ways.

You will all-ways be!

When your moment of understanding arises, be it now, be it close to transition, be it during transition, it does not matter! For each is serving according to the journey of that particular slice of dimensional experience that is present in that moment.

And this is why all will find their way home.

All will find their way home.

Yet each indi-vidu-will has the joy of their own journey.

Choose beloved one, and dance. For we are here choosing and dancing with you all.

And so it is!
